EXTENT OF INJURY NOT YET DISCLOSED

Thomas J. Walker, Victim of Automobile Accident, in Serious Condition.

BURY WILLINGHAM TO-DAY
Police Assist Coroner in Summoning Witnesses for Inquest.

While Thomas J. Walker, of 924 Park Avenue, director of the American Tobacco Company and manager of the Richmond steamship, who was seriously hurt in the fatal automobile accident at the Country Club of Virginia Tuesday evening, had not recovered consciousness, it was said last night at St. Luke's Hospital that his condition was somewhat improved, although there was widespread concern among his friends as to his recovery. He continued to display symptoms of paralysis in the left side. Mr. Walker, who was thrown from his car during the big seven-passenger, six-cylinder touring car turned turtle, was hurt about the head, but an X-ray examination failed to disclose the exact nature of his injuries.

The condition of Lee Bell, the young chauffeur, whose failure, witnesses said, to take the inside of the steep downgrade turn on the turtle-back road was the cause of the accident, and who is also a patient at St. Luke's, was pronounced satisfactory, and his recovery was predicted.

Smith Leaves Hospital.
Frank P. Smith, district manager of the Federal Cigar Company, another of the injured, was able to leave the hospital yesterday morning. He is now at the home of his wife, Mrs. Smith, at 1000 South Main Street, where he is recovering from his injuries.

An inquest into the death of Andrew E. Willingham, of 1401 Grove Avenue, chief buyer of the American Tobacco Company, whose skull was fractured when the big motor car fell upon him, and who died several hours later, will be held at 10 o'clock at the City Hall by Coroner Taylor. All day yesterday the police were busy in assisting the coroner in locating and summoning witnesses. The inquest into the death of Mr. Willingham will be thorough, and every effort will be made to place the responsibility for his death.

Persons who witnessed the accident, it is understood, have said that Bell was driving at a high rate of speed, it being variously estimated at from forty to sixty miles an hour.

Funeral This Afternoon.
The funeral of Mr. Willingham will take place this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the home of his wife, Mrs. Willingham, at 1401 Grove Avenue. The funeral will be held in the home of his wife, Mrs. Willingham, at 1401 Grove Avenue. The funeral will be held in the home of his wife, Mrs. Willingham, at 1401 Grove Avenue.

Besides his wife, Mrs. Minnie Willingham, of South Boston, two brothers, John and William, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Willingham, of South Boston, and Miss Sadie Willingham, of South Boston, will attend the funeral.

Negro Who Shot Henrico Merchants Is Still at Large.

Search for the negro who dangerously wounded W. M. Morecock and his son Bennett, at their store at Dunbarton, Henrico County, early Tuesday morning, was taken up yesterday. Three negroes, who were being held for the crime, but the county authorities feel that the guilty man is still at large.

The condition of both injured men was reported yesterday as being satisfactory. Both were suffering from great pain from the wounds. The bullet which entered the chest of the elder Morecock and it was reported that he was also wounded in the head and the right arm. The younger Morecock's wound is a flesh one, and is not dangerous.

BOY WHIPPED FOR CRUELTY
Castigated in Juvenile Court for Unmercifully Beating a Dog.

A boy was whipped in Juvenile Court for cruelty to a dog last month, according to the report of Agent Emmett C. Taylor, of the Richmond Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Cases in this court are now made public.

Check-remits were taken off seventy horses and mules, twenty-nine whips cut up, 35 dogs and cats humanely destroyed, four cats destroyed, twenty-five horses and mules destroyed, horses found for two horses and for fourteen dogs and cats.

There were twenty cases in court, with seventeen convictions, and three pending.

YOUNG FUGITIVE TYPES OF CHASE

Separated From Brothers and Surrounded by Police, Walter Ware Surrenders.

MAY GET BROTHERS TO-DAY
Assaults of Officer Bendall, of Henrico, Seen in Vicinity of Ridge Church.

Separated from his brothers and discouraged by his inability to place the cordon of county officers by whom he was surrounded, Walter Ware, colored, sixteen years old, crawled into the home of William Todd, at Step 24, Westhampton, yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock and surrendered himself to her husband. She immediately called upon the aid of Detective Sergeant Willshire and Wren, of the Richmond Police Department, and together with them went to his home, where the boy was found patiently awaiting their arrival.

Young Ware, since the attack on Officer W. Bendall, of Henrico County, shortly after midnight Monday, has been in hiding in the neighborhood of Westhampton. He became separated from his brothers a few hours after their flight, and has been unable to find them again. He was seen in the neighborhood of the bloodhounds which had been set on his trail, the boy welcomed the police and was taken to the police station and will probably be arraigned in Police Court this morning.

Made Little Progress Yesterday.
Some progress was made yesterday in tracing the two remaining fugitives. The search was resumed with renewed vigor, but in spite of all their efforts they were unable to catch them. Conflicting reports were received and the officers were sent out on several false trails. Early in the morning the house where Walter Ware was hiding was found and he was taken to the police station and will probably be arraigned in Police Court this morning.

There is a strong probability that his two brothers will be captured this morning. They were seen yesterday in the vicinity of Ridge Church, and were then headed toward their home. They are penniless, as they had intrusted their money to Walter before becoming separated. In addition, they have lost their spare clothing and are dependent upon what they pick that the police are confident that the boys will be in custody before to-night.

The case of the Ware brothers is one of the most dramatic in which the county has been engaged in several months. The search for the boys has been a task of great difficulty, and the officers have been working hard to bring them to justice. The boys are now in custody and will be arraigned in Police Court this morning.

OLIVER HAS CLEAR FIELD
Opponent of Prohibition Without Opposition in Legislature.

To all appearances Walter Tansill Oliver, of Fairfax, who led the fight in the House of the State of Virginia for prohibition enabling act during the last session of the Legislature, will be elected to the House of Delegates without opposition. He has no opponent in the race, and he is expected to win easily.

Several Satterfield men took the floor for their candidate, James Gentry reported the Satterfield forces to be in the ascendancy in the East End, and predicted a large majority in that section of the city. Harvey Atkins saw nothing but victory for Satterfield in Madison Ward, despite sweeping claims by the opposition. Alfred Frye thought a good man in office was what was needed, and he was in favor of Satterfield.

Davis Bottom declared his strong personal friendship for both Mr. Griggs and Mr. Satterfield, and regretted that he could not vote for both. He felt, however, that the best interest of the city demanded the re-election of Mr. Satterfield, and said that he would support him, although it was a case of "not that I love Caesar less, but Rome more." Among others who spoke in favor of Mr. Satterfield's candidacy were Oscar Myer, Ora Wyatt and P. A. Bowls.

AGAIN IN COURT
"Captain" G. F. V. Meakin Faces Charge of Disorderly Conduct.

"Captain" George F. V. Meakin, who claims to have held a commission in the British army, and who is no stranger to the courts, was arraigned in Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of being disorderly at 3222 West Main Street. His hearing went over until May 24.

GANS-RADY COMPANY

CLAIMS CITY JAIL TAKES HIGH RANK

Sergeant Satterfield Addresses West End Club Formed in His Behalf.

"Former Building Inspector Beck will tell you that the City Jail is in better condition to-day than when it was built," said City Sergeant John L. Satterfield last night at Monroe Hall, addressing a club newly organized to work for his re-election. "Those who are familiar with conditions know that the City Jail from the standpoint of cleanliness and sanitation, is to-day as nearly perfect as a systematic administration can make it."

Mr. Satterfield referred to the praise which has been accorded to his administration of the jail by Rev. J. J. Martin, secretary of the State Board of Prisoners and Corrections, and by the committee which have from time to time inspected it. Among the State's penal institutions, he said, it ranks high with a cleanliness grade of between 98 and 99 per cent.

The City Sergeant took exception to rumors which he said have been circulated to the effect that he bought many of the jail supplies outside of Richmond. The charge, he said, was without foundation. Speaking in the same hall last Saturday night, William G. Griggs promised, if elected, to buy goods in this city.

"Practically everything needed for the City Jail," said Mr. Satterfield, "is bought right here in Richmond. The largest single item is soap-powder, which we buy in ten-barrel lots. I believe this item alone is bought from an out-of-the-State firm, but through a Richmond agent who gets his price."

Davis Bottom called the meeting to order at 9 o'clock. Alfred I. Barfoot was elected permanent chairman of the John L. Satterfield Club of the West End, and presided during the speaking which followed. The club elected E. Shepherd secretary, and Joseph A. Frith, sergeant-at-arms. About 150 voters were present, and remained after the speech-making to enjoy ice-cream and cake and drink.

Several Satterfield men took the floor for their candidate, James Gentry reported the Satterfield forces to be in the ascendancy in the East End, and predicted a large majority in that section of the city. Harvey Atkins saw nothing but victory for Satterfield in Madison Ward, despite sweeping claims by the opposition. Alfred Frye thought a good man in office was what was needed, and he was in favor of Satterfield.

Davis Bottom declared his strong personal friendship for both Mr. Griggs and Mr. Satterfield, and regretted that he could not vote for both. He felt, however, that the best interest of the city demanded the re-election of Mr. Satterfield, and said that he would support him, although it was a case of "not that I love Caesar less, but Rome more." Among others who spoke in favor of Mr. Satterfield's candidacy were Oscar Myer, Ora Wyatt and P. A. Bowls.

SPECIAL ELECTION IN HIGHLAND PARK

Voters Will Decide Upon Bond Issue of $50,000 at Election To-Day.

Voters of the town of Highland Park will decide at a special election to-day upon the issuance of bonds to the extent of $50,000 for street and other permanent improvements. The election was ordered a month ago by Judge R. Carter Scott, of Henrico Circuit Court, in response to a request of the Town Council of Highland Park. The Council, as a whole, favors the bond issue, and its plans were endorsed by the citizens of the town at a mass meeting five weeks ago.

The campaign has been quiet. No meetings or discussions, other than the mass meeting, have been held, but it is thought that the quiet work will show when the ballots are counted to-night. For several weeks the town has been without a registrar, but Charles G. Shater, who was appointed Monday by the county electoral board to succeed W. P. Buckley, has been overrun with citizens anxious to participate in the election.

Providing the bonds are authorized by the voters, the Council intends to spend the money immediately on necessary improvements. The members have been studying plans for suburban roads, streets and sidewalks, which have been furnished by the highway commissioners of several States that lead in this kind of work, and feel that they are competent to give Highland Park the best that can be secured for its money.

The roads through the town are in bad shape. They should, it is felt, be macadamized or oiled to lay the dust. There is some grading to do, but comparatively little. The placing of sidewalks is essential, and this will be one of the first matters to be attended to.

Among the improvements that are being made now in the town is the sinking of an artesian well. It has reached a depth of 600 feet, and an excellent grade water has been secured. The flow exceeds seventy-five gallons a minute. The Henrico Gas Company is putting in a system which will be ready in less than a month.

CROSSING FIGHT TAKEN TO COURT

Corporation Commission Hears Suit Between Southern Railway and Fairfax County.

The State Corporation Commission beginning at 10 o'clock yesterday morning heard argument on the petition of the county of Fairfax to be relieved of half-share in the expense of making a $50,000 crossing about one mile outside the city of Alexandria, where seven tracks of the Southern Railway cross the Telegraph Road. The Board of Supervisors of Fairfax County, through its attorney, Walter Tansill Oliver, claimed exemption from bearing a portion of the cost of making the overland or underground crossing on the ground that the Telegraph Road was in existence previous to the laying of the Southern Railway tracks.

That is the real ground of contention, although nominally, the suit is brought by the county to force the railway to make an underground crossing at this point. Robert B. Tunstall and John S. Eggleston, counsel for the railway, fought the demand for an underground crossing and claimed the county must share in the cost. The commission took the case under advisement and will render a decision at some future date.

In presenting its case against an underground crossing, the railway company placed only a single witness on the stand--H. E. Hutchins, general superintendent of the Southern Railway. Thomas A. Williams and W. F. P. Reid, both members of the Board of Supervisors of Fairfax, took the stand in behalf of the county. All witnesses agreed on the need of an artificial crossing at this point, where between 250 and 250 trains daily cross the busy Telegraph Road. At present, the railway keeps a night and a day watchman on the grade crossing there, but the board contends that a watchman cannot competently care for seven tracks running parallel, three of which are used for switching.

The supervisors and the railway officials have been in conference over the matter for a long time, but have never reached an amicable understanding on the kind of crossing to be built. The railway holds out for an overhead crossing, and the county insists that it will cost about $10,000 less than the underground method desired by the supervisors.

HONORS ARE PAID TO JEWISH DEAD

Annual Memorial Services Held Yesterday for Confederate Soldiers.

Memorial services at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon in honor of the Confederate soldiers buried in the Jewish Cemetery attracted a gathering of 500--among them a delegation from R. E. Lee Camp, United Confederate Veterans, and a score or more veterans from the Soldiers' Home.

Dr. E. N. Callahan, of Beth Abahab Synagogue, conducted a brief memorial service and was assisted by the Beth Abahab quartet, which sang hymns and led in the singing of "America," in which the entire gathering joined at the end of the program. Company R, First Regiment, the Walker Light Guard, fired a salute over the soldiers' graves in the memorial plot, and the bugler closed the services by sounding taps.

The memorial exercises took place in the open and were under the auspices of the Hebrew Ladies' Memorial Association, the members of which decorated with flowers the graves in the soldiers' section. Dr. Callahan, before offering Kaddish--the Jewish prayer for the dead--discussed the deep significance of the occasion which, he said, brought together men and women of different classes and creeds in a common tribute to the Jewish soldiers of the Confederacy who sleep in the little enclosed plot the sleep which here below will know no waking.

Paragraph Pulpit SOCIAL PROGRESS.

No religion can do much for the promotion of beneficence in the world that does not build centrally upon the doctrine of the unity of humanity. So long as we fail to regard our fellow-men as brethren, so long as we draw lines which break up the unity of the race, there can be neither peace nor justice, philanthropy nor love. This is the great thought of the brotherhood of man has the closest relation to the social progress of the world--Unitarian Publicity Committee. (Advertisement.)
